Message from the Executive Director

The 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development provides the world with an undeniable opportunity to bring about widespread, positive change for humanity. The interconnected, universal and transformational nature of the Agenda requires collective responsibility, accountability and action, with governments, the United Nations system, and a range of other stakeholders all contributing to the implementation of the Sustainable Development Goals. The development of knowledge and the transfer of skills, in addition to other forms of capacity, will undeniably play an important role in this process.

UNITAR and its network of CIFAL training centres are committed to make a meaningful and impactful contribution towards the implementation of the Agenda, as well as the other major outcomes from 2015, including those of the Sendai (Disaster Risk Reduction) Paris (Climate Change) and Addis Ababa (Financing for Development) conferences.

The CIFAL Global Network assists primarily local authorities by providing training and learning opportunities, as well as by facilitating city-to-city cooperation that leads to the development and implementation of specific actions in support of sustainable development.

We invite you to join our training activities and to support our common endeavor to achieve the world we want by year 2030.

Nikhil Seth
United Nations Assistant Secretary-General
Executive Director of UNITAR

SPECIAL INITIATIVES

A training initiative of UNITAR, to contribute to halve the number of global deaths and injuries from road traffic accidents by 2020. SDG 3.6

Strengthening road safety for sustainable cities

Road traffic injuries claim more than 1.2 million lives each year with a disproportionate impact on health and development. They are the ninth leading cause of death across all age groups globally and the leading cause among young people aged between 15 and 29 years.

UNITAR's initiative on road safety aims to contribute to achieve SDG 3.6 to halve the number of global deaths and injuries from road traffic accidents by 2020.

UNITAR jointly with its CICAL Global Network provide training opportunities aimed at strengthening capacities of government officials at local and national levels to implement road safety strategies and programmes.

Changing road users' behavior on key risk factors for road traffic injuries (speed, drink-driving, distracted driving, and the failure to use helmets, seat belts and child restraints properly or at all) is a key component for improving road safety. UNITAR and its CICAL Centres also contribute to improve road user behavior through advocacy efforts and by increasing awareness of risk factors.

Master of disaster resilience and sustainable development

22 May 2017 - January 2018 (deadline for application: 8 May)
4 September 2017 - May 2018 (deadline for application: 21 August)

The University of Newcastle, CIFAL Newcastle and UNITAR are offering the Master of Disaster Resilience and Sustainable Development that exposes professionals, organisations and communities to global best practice knowledge, and tools to implement the new UN Sustainable Development Goals and the Sendai framework for Disaster Risk Reduction.

This programme equips people from diverse backgrounds to understand resilience and sustainable development principles, and systematically apply them to the design of public, private, NGO, civil society organisations and the built environment. It aims to enhance organisations' capacity to avoid disasters, operate through extreme events and emerge better placed to face the future.

Upon graduation, in addition to the University degree students will receive UN co-certification from the United Nations Institute for Training and Research (UNITAR) and the United Nations Office for Disaster Risk Reduction (UNISDR).

The program combines flexibility (available both online and face-to-face on campus), relevance (staff who have global best practice experience in disaster relief, reconstruction and resilience building) and employability (of potential benefit to any organisation that recognises the need to build its resilience capacity for the future).

Students of the program will learn fundamental disaster risk concepts and receive training in the use of the most globally adopted DRR tools and protocols, some of these through direct engagement with UNITAR resources.

At the end of the programme, students will be capable of conducting disaster risk evaluations and guiding the subsequent development of disaster risk mitigation and management strategies for the organisation in which they work. This program will equip graduates to apply the Sendai Framework for Disaster Risk Reduction to public, private, NGO and civil society organisations.

The programme combines flexibility to study anywhere at any time as it is available both online and face-to-face on campus.
